TIPS TO FILL UP THE PIGGY BANK

It's never too early to teach your children or grandchildren the importance of saving. Kids as young as five can have emotional reactions to spending and saving money, indicating their real-life spending behaviors, according to a University of Michigan study. Teaching them good habits now can help their financial future. Here are a few simple tips to get kids to fill up their piggy bank.

COME UP WITH A SAVINGS GOAL

Whether it's a small goal of saving for a toy or a large goal for college, having one keeps them motivated. Create a calendar or chart to stay on target. Even a small contribution each month can lead to a comfortable future.

OPEN A CHECKING ACCOUNT (FOR MEMBERS AGED 16 AND 17)

Teens will learn how to manage their money with your oversight. You can transfer an allowance directly into your child's FPCCFCU account and track their progress. The account has a $25 minimum opening balance, no minimum balance required, online and mobile banking, Visa® ATM/Debit Card, and eStatements.

LET THEM EARN THEIR MONEY

Teach your kids how to make their own cash by doing chores around the house or the neighborhood. It can be as simple as making the bed or taking out the trash. Other chores such as mowing the lawn or doing the laundry might earn them more bucks. You can set a weekly commission or a monetary reward for each chore.

OPEN A SAVINGS ACCOUNT

Youth savings accounts teach positive saving habits. The FPCCFCU MyCU Savings Account is a great option for youth ages 17 and under.

INVOLVE THEM IN DECISIONS

Allowing your children to participate in some financial decisions is a great learning process for them. They can help create shopping lists, look for deals and collect coupons. The same concept works for back-to-school shopping for supplies or clothes.
